ABOUT FDP

The National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 envisions education as a holistic and multidisciplinary enterprise deeply rooted in Indian Knowledge Systems (IKS). It recognizes India's rich repository of traditional wisdom in art, mathematics, science, philosophy, and crafts as a valuable pedagogical resource to make learning more contextual, experiential, and culturally grounded. Integrating IKS into the classroom nurtures not only intellectual growth but also cultural pride, creativity, and ethical values among learners.

For future educators, understanding and integrating indigenous wisdom into modern classrooms is not an option—it is an imperative. Teachers and teacher educators must move beyond textbook learning to embrace experiential, interdisciplinary, and culture-based pedagogies. This FDP is designed to equip teacher educators, school teachers, and trainee teachers with practical insights and hands-on experiences to effectively weave IKS elements into contemporary teaching-learning processes. FDP aims to blend theoretical understanding with practical demonstration, inspiring participants to innovate classroom practices that reflect the essence of Indian ethos within the framework of modern education.
